WHO'S WHO IN HOMEBUILDING

Builder and Developer's annual look at the best and brightest in the fields of residential building, land development and planning.

Steve Cameron

Foremost Communities*

Steve Cameron is president and founder of Foremost Communities, Inc. (www.foremostcommunities.com), a land development and investment company that recently formed a joint venture with Starwood Capital Group. Cameron has more than 20 years of experience in Southern California real estate development, land acquisition master plan development, and the sales and marketing of new homes. Before forming his own company, he was chief operating officer (COO) of Fieldstone Communities, Inc.

"Despite the current slow down, we are confident that the long-term housing fundamentals are good for Southern California. Once housing prices begin to stabilize, we anticipate a resurgence in new home construction and builders with holes in their land inventory will look to us for property."
